Inferring From a Picture

Making an inference means to draw a conclusion based on given information. Some authors do not explain everything fully. They expect readers to "read between the lines."

Directions: Look at the picture. Think about what you notice that may be happening in this picture. Then, answer the questions.

1. What are the kids doing? How do you know?

2. Why are the kids facing each other?

3. Why does the girl have her hands folded?
